Quality and inspiration in stylish living around the world

French designer Jean-Marc Gady and Fort Royal have come together in a unique partnership to create a stunning collection of furniture, all crafted by the finest French artisans, to be presented at the "Revelations" fair at the Grand Palais, in Paris, 11th to the 15th of September 2013.

Fort Royal's purpose is to bring together renowned craftsmen acknowledged as the best in their trade, in an effort to offer enthusiasts and connoisseurs alike privileged access to exceptional craftsmanship.

The idea for the collaboration between the two came effortlessly. Jean-Marc Gady had already worked with Jean-Paul Craman to create the "Destiny" chest of drawers. By the end of their collaboration both of them were so satisfied with the results, that the desire to create a new project together was only natural. The result is a collection designed by Jean Marc Gady, created by wood, glass and metal artisans' of Craman-Lagarde, Simon-Marq and Crézé, and edited by Fort Royal.
